By Frank Stephenson : Chowan Beach: Remembering an African American Resort (Vintage Images) Chowan Beach: Remembering an African American Resort (Vintage Images):

In 1928 Eli Reid purchased 400 acres of picturesque property on the banks of the Chowan River in Hertford County North Carolina Soon after he acquired the land Reid began turning the area into a Segregation era resort for African Americans and Chowan Beach was born As the resort began to take shape in the late 1920s it was clear that something special had been started Wide sandy beaches were built and construction was immediately started on guest
